William V. Lahmann, Superintendent

Student of the Month September 2009

Strictly business, Math business that it... She came in this year to knock out some credit and sing all the way to graduation, and that is what she worked towards last month. Whether it was the High School Performance Exam practice or figuring out income or budgets, she did not let it stand in her way. While she is calculating and passing tests, she was also cheering others on. Her smile and her shouts of “YEAH!” are contagious; she is like the Pied-Piper of Math class, except she uses her voice as a flute. For these and other reasons, the Mathematics Department nominates Danielle Ettinger-Collins for Student of the Month.
